Abhishek Kumar

Full Stack Developer, MERN Stack Engineer, UI/UX Designer

Hi I am a full stack developer, love programming as well as computer science in general. I am experienced in web development and React Framework, and recently started delving deep in Data structures and algorithms to become a well rounded programmer. I really believe in project based learning, so have listed my best works in my portfolio. As a creative person, I have a keen eye for themes and styles. Picking anything new and really learning it quickly is my unfair advantage. As I am striving to get to the top 1% of developers, one must really enjoy the process, the journey of learning new technologies. And that basically is THE recipe for achieving any goal. I am really hyped to meet just as passionate people and collaborate to creating something, which can really help us create a difference.
